

Lexington, MA, USA
Tel: +1 6179821241
info@accusonus.com
www.accusonus.com

ACCUSONUS PRODUCTS TO BE DISTRIBUTED EXCLUSIVELY AT accusonus.com

Accusonus announces product updates for drumatom, drumatom Player and ERA-D

Lexington, MA, July 2016 – Accusonus Inc. announced today that updates for their award winning drumatom, drumatom Player and ERA-D products will be available through the accusonus.com website. The updates are free for existing customers, and include the new accusonus licenser and minor bug fixes. In order to receive uninterrupted product updates and high-quality support, current accusonus users should register at the accusonus.com website.

Alex Tsilfidis, CEO of Accusonus said: "We are very excited to enter a new sales and marketing phase for the company. With a dedicated marketing and growth team, we will be focused on delivering products with unmatched value and quality. Products previously available on the Plugin Alliance website will now only be available on accusonus.com. As we enter this new phase of product marketing and distribution for accusonus, I want to thank the Plugin Alliance for a multi-year collaboration that has been a major success and has included multiple releases of drumatom, drumatom player and ERA-D that resulted in the distribution of accusonus music software products to thousands of customers worldwide."

Continuing, Alex said "As accusonus moves forward, we are committed to developing new innovative products as well as updating and improving our existing revolutionary product line. The accusonus team is growing and dedicated to offering previously unthought capabilities to millions of musicians, producers and sound engineers. To this end, accusonus will soon be releasing a new product line that we are especially excited about. Our current products are focused on the studio and post-production markets and with our new product line we will be expanding into the creative market of electronic music. Please stay tuned for more on this in the upcoming months."

About accusonus

A high-technology start-up focused on innovation in digital audio technologies, accusonus offers novel software tools to the professional music sector. In addition, the company is developing embedded software products for speech enhancement that target the consumer electronics industry. Accusonus products are based on state-of-the-art, patented or patent-pending technologies. Read more at www.accusonus.com